Cognitive-Behavioral Conjoint Therapy for Posttraumatic Stress Disorder (CBCT for PTSD):
Therapist Adherence and Competence Protocol

Instructions:

Adherence: For each item, assess if the therapist demonstrated the particular behavior described in the item and indicate + or – depending on whether or not the behavior was demonstrated.

Competence: For each item, assess how well the therapist carried out the particular behavior described in the item. Use the rating scale described below to assign a number in the second box next to the item.

Administration of Assessments

1. Therapist administered the Patient and Partner versions of the PCL and Relationship Happiness Question.

Treatment Overview

2. Therapist referred to session overview handout in workbook.
3. Therapist provided an overview of the treatment format (e.g., three phases, 15 sessions, 75 minutes each session).
4. Therapist explained the two goals of the therapy (i.e., improve relationships and decrease PTSD symptoms).
5. Therapist introduced out-of-session assignments and the rationale for them.
6. Therapist talked about increasing positivity.
7. Therapist introduced the idea that the patient is the relationship.
8. Therapist discussed limits of confidentiality.
9. Therapist discussed that therapy sessions will only be conducted when both partners are present.

Psychoeducation about PTSD: A Disorder of Impeded Recovery

10. Therapist provided psychoeducation about the four clusters of PTSD symptoms (reexperiencing, hyperarousal, avoidance, and numbing) in an interpersonal context.
11. Therapist provided psychoeducation about the feedback loop created by the four clusters of PTSD symptoms.
12. Therapist described PTSD as a disorder of "impeded recovery".
13. Therapist highlighted the therapy targets: cognitive and behavioral.

Goal Setting/Treatment Contract

14. Therapist helped the couple set both PTSD and relationship goals.
15. Therapist helped the couple translate their goals into concrete behavioral markers.
16. Therapist recorded the couple's goals on the Treatment Contract and had each person witness the signature of the other person.

Out-of-Session Assignments

17. Therapist oriented the couple to the OOSA summary sheet for this session.
18. Therapist asked the couple to review the Natural Recovery/Cycle of PTSD Symptoms handout together before the next session.
19. Therapist asked the couple to read the Common Reactions to Trauma handout together before the next session.
20. Therapist explained the Trauma Impact Questions (TIQ) and asked each member of the couple to complete the questions before the next session.
21. Therapist explained and assigned the You've Been Caught Doing Something Nice assignment.

Administration of Assessments

1. Therapist administered the Patient and Partner versions of the PCL and Relationship Happiness Question.

Review Out-of-Session Assignments

2. Therapist had each member of the couple review their responses to the Learning About My Anger worksheet.
3. Therapist inquired about time-out practice and troubleshooted any problems.
4. Therapist reviewed You've Been Caught Doing Something Nice assignment.

Psychoeducation about PTSD, Avoidance, and Intimate Relationship Functioning

5. Therapist discussed operant conditioning and avoidance (e.g., how avoidance and fear can spiral by feeding one each other).
6. Therapist inquired about behavioral avoidance in the couple.
7. Therapist discussed more subtle forms of avoidance such as avoidance of emotional experiences, memories, or thoughts.
8. Therapist discussed with the couple the ways in which they avoid internal experiences.

Introduce Communication Skills Training

9. Therapist introduced communication skills training by providing key points on the role of communication in general relationship satisfaction.
10. Therapist described the three communication skills areas that will be developed in this stage of the therapy: listening/paraphrasing; sharing thoughts and feelings; problem-solving/decision making.

Effective Listening Skills

11. Therapist introduced effective listening skills (e.g., the difference between listening and hearing).
12. Therapist introduced paraphrasing and provided the rationale for it (e.g., to slow down communication, to make sure you listened correctly).
13. Therapist had the couple practice paraphrasing in session by discussing what PTSD has made them avoid, and what they would do if they avoided less.

Out-of-Session Assignments

14. Therapist oriented the couple to the OOSA summary sheet for the session.
15. Therapist asked the couple to continue to monitor positive behaviors in each other but not necessarily to record them.
16. Therapist asked the couple to read the PTSD and Avoidance handout together before the next session.
17. Therapist asked the couple to continue to identify people, places, things, and feelings that the individual with PTSD and the couple avoid and record it on the Avoidance List.
18. Therapist asked that each partner catch the other partner paraphrasing daily.

Check-Out

19. Therapist did a check-out at the end of the session.

Administration of Assessments

1. Therapist administered the Patient and Partner versions of the PCL and Relationship Happiness.

Review Out-of-Session Assignments

2. Therapist inquired about positive behaviors noticed in their partner.
3. Therapist inquired about the couple's response to reading PTSD and Avoidance handout.
4. Therapist reviewed the items that the couple added to their Avoidance List.
5. Therapist reviewed the couple's success with catching each other paraphrasing out of session.

Communication Channels

6. Therapist introduced and explained the idea of communication channels using the Communications Channels handout (e.g., there are two primary channels).
7. Therapist illustrated the skill of channel checking by providing examples of how partners can check what channel each one is on.

Introduce Channel of Sharing Thoughts and Feelings (Focus on Feelings)

8. Therapist explained the rationale for sharing feelings (e.g., to combat emotional numbing, to help the couple feel intimate and close).
9. Therapist oriented the couple to the Identifying Feelings handout.
10. Therapist discussed the general principles of sharing/expressing feelings.
11. Therapist explained the benefits of reflecting feelings back to a partner.

In-Session Practice

12. Therapist had the couple practice emotion expression skills in session, to discuss how PTSD has affected them and their relationship.
13. Therapist had each member of the couple compare intimacy ratings before and after the communication exercise.

Shrinking PTSD Through Approach

14. Therapist worked with the couple to pick at least one person, place, situation, or feeling on the Approach List that will be approached before the next session.
15. Therapist discussed maximizing effectiveness of approach tasks with the couple by orienting them to the PROUD to Shrink PTSD handout.
16. The item was recorded on the OOSA summary, and the therapist asked the couple to write about how it went.

Out-of-Session Assignments

17. Therapist oriented the couple to the OOSA summary sheet.
18. Therapist asked the couple to continue to monitor positive behaviors in each other.
19. Therapist asked each member of the couple to practice a channel check at least once before the next session.
20. Therapist asked the couple to review the PROUD to Shrink PTSD handout.
21. Therapist asked each member of the couple to catch their partner sharing a feeling at least once per day.
